The Health and Society minor is designed to expose undergraduate students to sociological theory concerning the operation of the health care industry and social trends in health care phenomena. Coursework focuses on realities of an aging population including the demographics and meaning of death, social factors in disease and illness, the social distribution of physical and mental health, and social aspects of the health care industry and health care delivery. The minor provides students with an employment foundation in the social aspects of the health care industry.

Overview:

Students must complete 3 required courses (9 hours) and 3 electives (9 hours) for a total of 18 hours of course work in Sociology. The required courses are: Sociology 2290 (Sociology of Death and Dying), Sociology 5450 (The Sociology of Global Health and Illness), and either Sociology 3630 (Medical Sociology) or Sociology 5629 (Health Disparities in Social Context).

Students majoring in Sociology or Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies are required to consult with a Sociology academic counselor to develop a curriculum plan.
