

Sociology

In general, Sociology is a liberal arts/social science major that provides students with the scientific tools and social perspective necessary to better understand social issues and complex societal problems.

Sociology is the study of group life. Sociologists investigate the structure of groups, organizations and societies. The goal is to understand the characteristics, causes and consequences of human behavior and social relationships in various kinds of group settings. Because human behavior is diverse, the field of Sociology covers a wide range of subjects. Sociologists may specialize in the following areas:

family	education
urban community	health & medicine
social movements	deviance
crime and law	religion
work and occupations	sports and leisure
gender and sex roles	politics
racial & ethnic minorities

Graduate, Professional & Law School

Sociology is also a valuable major for students planning to attend graduate or professional school. Sociology provides a rich foundation of knowledge regarding a variety of fields. Undergraduate Sociology majors frequently go on to post-baccalaureate programs in law, business, administration, social work, public health, urban planning, public policy management and other various social science fields.

Careers

There are few jobs that have the title "Sociologist" for those who hold Bachelor's degrees. However, Sociology is a relevant discipline that helps to prepare students for a variety of careers and for graduate or professional education. Major sectors of employment for graduates of our program include:

Community/Non-profit (fund-raising, social service organizations, or child welfare agencies)

Health and social services (family planning, substance abuse, rehabilitation counseling, group work with youth or the elderly, recreation, or administration)

Criminal justice and corrections (law enforcement, probation, parole)

Business community (advertising, marketing, consumer research, insurance, real estate, and personnel work or training)

Federal, state, or local government (transportation, housing, agriculture and labor)

Sociology majors compete with other liberal arts graduates for these types of positions. However, a strong program of study and careful selection of courses coupled with practical experience will produce a competitive advantage in the marketplace.

Sociology: Understanding The World Around You!

Declaration of Major:

Sociology 1101 is a pre-requisite to declaring the major.

To officially declare Sociology as your major, you must attend a Major Orientation. Information about Orientation sessions is available at <http://intra.sociology.ohio-state.edu/ug/declare.php>

Structure of the Major: 13 Courses / 39 Credit hours

Required Courses:

SOC 3463 or H3463	Social Stratification: Race, Class & Gender
SOC 3488	Introduction to Sociological Theory
SOC 3487 or H3487	Research Methods in Sociology
SOC 3549	Statistics in Sociology*

*SOC 3549 will also fulfill your GE Data Analysis requirement.

The required courses provide the building blocks for the Sociology discipline. In these courses you will:

- understand and practice research methods (3487),
- analyze statistical data (3549),
- be exposed to the issues of social inequality (3463), and
- apply sociological theory to contemporary society (3488).
